7. Venue is properly within the Southern District of New York in that certain plaintiffs reside within this jurisdiction and all plaintiffs commenced their original action in this Court that has been made subject to the challenged statute.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

8. The Protect America Act (the "Act"), P.L. _____, ____ STAT. ____ (2008), has passed into law.

9. Two years prior to the signing of this law, plaintiffs had filed actions seeking damages and injunctive relief against the United States, Verizon, ATT and BellSouth (since merged with ATT) for illegal disclosure of telephone subscriber conversations, information and records to the United States in violation of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act (ECPA) and the Stored Communications Act (the "Pending Actions"). The Pending Actions alleged that the United States requested and received such information from the telecommunications carriers without warrant or subpoena or other statutory authorization in direct violation of the ECPA and the Stored Communications Act that prohibit the disclosure of such information to any government agency in the absence of a warrant or subpoena ( or certain other limited statutory conditions).

10. Plaintiff AMIDAX TRADING GROUP has commenced an action and has ripened claims in this Court against SWIFT that would be purportedly dismissed by the ACT.

11. The Act, as signed into law by the President on or about July 9, 2008, purports to mandate dismissal of all such pending actions.

12. Section 802(a) of the Act requires dismissal of the Pending Actions, as follows:

"Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a civil action may not lie or be maintained in a Federal or State court against any person for providing assistance to any element of the intelligence community, and shall be promptly dismissed if the Attorney General certifies to the District Court of the United States in which such action is pending that —

* * *

(4) in the case of a covered civil action, the assistance alleged to have been provided by the electronic communication service provider was —

(A) in connection with an intelligence activity involving communications that was —

- (i) authorized by the President during the period beginning on September 11, 2001, and ending on January 17, 2007; and
- (ii) designed to detect or prevent a terrorist attack, or activities in preparation for a terrorist attack, against the United States; and

(B) the subject of a written request or directive, or a series of written requests or directives, from the Attorney General or the head of an element of the intelligence community (or the deputy of such person) to the electronic communication service provider indicating that the activity was —

- (i) authorized by the President; and
- (ii) determined to be lawful;

13. By this language the Act purports to legislatively mandate dismissal by any court of all actions pending against telecommunication providers under any federal laws including, without limitation, the ECPA and the Stored Communications Act, that provide for civil remedies for disclosure without warrant or subpoena of subscriber conversations, telephone records or other subscriber information, upon presentation of a certification by the Attorney General that the alleged activity was:

- 1) "authorized by the President during the period beginning on September 11, 2001, and ending on January 17, 2007; and
- 2) "designed to detect or prevent a terrorist attack, or activities in preparation for a terrorist attack, against the United States" and that the communications providers had received a "a written request or directive, or a series of written requests or directives" from the Attorney General or the "head of an element of the intelligence community stating that the requested assistance was "authorized by the president" and had been "determined to be lawful". Id.

14. The Act would force dismissal of the Pending Actions by legislative action.

15. The Act prohibits the courts from adjudicating the Pending Actions filed under existing federal statutes that were in force and effect as of the time of the violations.

16. The Act makes no provision for compensating plaintiffs who had, at the time of the passage into law of the Act, already commenced actions or possessed existing ripened claims for damages incurred by telecommunications providers in violation of the ECPA, the Stored Communications Act and other relevant statutes.

17. As to plaintiff Amdex Trading, the statute would purport to legislatively dismiss actions and claims pending and/or ripened under the Right to Financial Privacy Act without compensation and in violation of due process and other constitutional considerations set forth below.

COUNT I
(TAKINGS CLAUSE CLAIMS)

18. All information set forth above is repeated below.

19. Plaintiffs' right to recover under the ECPA, the Stored Communications Act and the Right to Financial Privacy Act, as expressed through the Pending Actions, are property rights protected by Amendment V to the Constitution.

20. By mandating dismissal of the Pending Actions, the Act immunizes the telecommunications carriers for such prior damages without compensation to plaintiffs and without adjudication of their claims, a taking of property of property in violation of the due process provisions of Amendment V of the Constitution.

21. Accordingly, section 802(a), et seq. of the Act is unconstitutional in that it violates and is contrary to Amendment V of the Constitution that prohibits the taking of property without due process and without compensation.

COUNT TWO
(SEPARATION OF POWERS – ARTICLE III)

22. All information set forth above is repeated below.

23. The Act mandates legislative dismissal of plaintiffs' claims pending in the several United States District Courts without adjudication by a court organized and appointed under Article III of the Constitution.

24. Each of said pending claims gave rise to a case and controversy that had ripened and was commenced in the form of the Pending Actions by plaintiffs prior to the Act's passage into law.

25. Each of the Pending Actions was filed in a court of the United States organized under Article III of the Constitution.

26. Pursuant to Article III, Section 1, "The judicial power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish."

27. By virtue of the Judiciary Act of 1789, the United States District Courts in which said actions are pending are "inferior courts" established by Congress in which the "judicial power of the United States, shall be vested..."

28. Article III, Section 2 provides, inter alia, that "The judicial power shall extend to all Cases, in Law or Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States..."

29. The Constitution separates the judicial from the legislative and executive powers.

30. The Pending Actions are cases and controversies to be adjudicated by the Judicial Power of the United States under Article III.

31. Neither Congress nor the Executive have constitutional authority to adjudicate cases and controversies pending before the courts of the United States or to mandate dismissal of such cases.

32. Actions before duly ordained and established courts of the United States are cases and controversies under Article III, to be adjudicated by "the judicial power of the United States", not by legislative or executive act or decree.

33. Section 802(a) has the purpose and/or effect of legislatively adjudicating the Pending Actions.

34. Section 802(a) also has the effect and intent of enabling the Executive to determine the legality of its own actions in a manner that would bind the judicial power in violation of the judicial function under Article III.

35. Accordingly, the Act is unconstitutional in that it purports to adjudicate cases and controversies pending before a court of the United States within the judicial power under Article III of the Constitution.

COUNT THREE
(DUE PROCESS – AMENDMENT V)

36. All information set forth above is repeated below.

37. The Act mandates dismissal of the Pending Actions by the interposition of defenses that did not exist in law as of the time of commencement of the actions.

38. Such defenses have been interposed for the express purpose of providing grounds of dismissal in favor of defendants that did not exist at the time of the occurrence of the defendants' acts and which would not exist in law but for the interposition of the legislative action.

39. Accordingly, by interposing defenses that did not exist at the time of the underlying acts of the defendants and that did not exist in law at the time of commencement of the actions, the Act violates the due process provisions of Amendment Five of the Constitution.

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs seek relief and damages as follows;

1. On the first cause of action, judgment that the above-cited provisions of the Act are unconstitutional pursuant to Amendment V of the Constitution as takings and declaring said provisions to be void and enjoining the United States from enforcing said provisions of the Act;

2. On the second cause of action judgment that the above-cited provisions of the Act comprise an unconstitutional adjudication of cases and controversies pending before the courts of the United States that are within the judicial power under Article III of the Constitution and declaring said provisions to be void and enjoining the United States from enforcing said provisions of the Act;
3. On the third cause of action, judgment that the above-cited provisions of the Act violate substantive due process under Amendment V of the Constitution by the retroactive interposition of defenses by legislation and declaring said provisions to be void and enjoining the United States from enforcing said provisions of the Act;
4. On all causes of action, reasonable attorneys fees and costs of suit.

Respectfully submitted,

MDL No. 1791

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the entire Panel: Plaintiffs in an action pending in the Southern District of New York have moved, pursuant to Rule 7.4, R.P.J.P.M.L., 199 F.R.D. 425, 435-36 (2001), to vacate our order conditionally transferring the action (McMurray) to the Northern District of California for inclusion in MDL No. 1791. Responding defendant the United States of America opposes the motion.

After considering all argument of counsel, we find that McMurray involves common questions of fact with actions in this litigation previously transferred to the Northern District of California, and that transfer of the action to the Northern District of California for inclusion in MDL No. 1791 will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of the litigation. We further find that transfer of the action is appropriate for reasons that we set out in our original order directing centralization in this docket. In that order, we held that the Northern District of California was a proper Section 1407 forum for actions "sharing factual and legal questions regarding alleged Government surveillance of telecommunications activity and the participation in (or cooperation with) that surveillance by individual telecommunications companies." See In re National Security Agency Telecommunications Records Litigation, 444 F.Supp.2d 1332, 1334 (J.P.M.L. 2006).

In opposing transfer, plaintiffs principally argue that McMurray involves only a legal issue — whether certain recently-enacted amendments to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) are unconstitutional.<sup>1</sup> Certainly, this is a valid consideration here. In these circumstances, however,

The FISA amendments provide, in relevant part, that a civil action "may not lie or be maintained" in a federal or state court against any person for providing assistance to an element of the intelligence community, if the Attorney General certifies to the involved federal district court that one of several possible circumstances exist, including (1) that the person did not provide the alleged assistance, (2) that the person provided the assistance pursuant to an order of the FISA court or other it does not carry the day. Because the Panel has already centralized very similar cases which are now further advanced than this one, a more efficient, more consistent and fairer procedure likely results from the transferee court reviewing this new case as well. Virtually all the parties in McMurray are already present in MDL No. 1791. With but one exception, plaintiffs in McMurray are also plaintiffs in one of the actions (Mayer) initially centralized in this docket in August 2006. Defendants in McMurray and Mayer are also identical. Moreover, the core issue presented in McMurray is one that is already squarely before the transferee judge. Indeed, the viability of most, if not all, of the actions in MDL No. 1791 appears to turn on the effect of the aforementioned FISA amendments.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, this action is transferred to the Northern District of California and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Vaughn R. Walker for inclusion in the coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings occurring there in this docket.
